Known as The City of Kings, the Peruvian capital is packed with stunning colonial architecture, huge religious buildings, the seat of government, and other important structures. Please note: Due to flight scheduling and availability, some departures may occur on Day 0. Affected customers must be at the airport the night before. Flight times will be indicated on your final documentation that you will receive prior to departure.

Day 2 Lima City Tour

This morning, after breakfast, set off on a city tour of Lima, starting with a brief stop at the Huaca Pucllana Archaeological Site, an ancient pre-Inca ceremonial centre, before continuing to Lima's UNESCO World Heritage-listed historic centre. Here, explore the Plaza de Armas, the heart of the city, surrounded by grand colonial and Republican-era buildings with their signature carved wooden balconies. Iconic landmarks border the square, including the Government Palace, Lima Cathedral, Archbishop's Palace, Municipal Palace, and the Palace of the Union.

From the square, walk to the Convent of San Francisco, one of Peru's most important religious sites. Founded in the 1530s and completed in 1766, this remarkable complex has withstood centuries of earthquakes. Inside, its historic library preserves over 25,000 rare volumes in Spanish, English and Quechua – some dating back to the 16th century. The convent is built around a tranquil courtyard planted with mango and lucuma (yellow sapote) trees, while its walls feature striking murals of St Francis of Assisi. Among the highlights are a golden Baroque altarpiece and Diego de la Puerto's famous 1696 painting of The Last Supper – notably featuring guinea pigs and potatoes on the table.

We'll also descend into the eerie San Francisco Catacombs, Lima's largest. Once a burial site for more than 25,000 people, the catacombs were in use until 1808 and rediscovered in 1947. Today, they fascinate visitors with their macabre yet intriguing arrangements of bones in geometric patterns.

Nestled amidst the Andes, Cusco stands as a living testament to the Inca civilization's brilliance. Take your time wandering along cobblestone streets that wind through awe-inspiring archaeological sites. #### Day 4 Cusco City Tour

Today, you will embark on a half-day tour, visiting Cusco Cathedral, the Koricancha (Qorikancha), Sacsayhuaman and Tambomachay, giving you a deep insight into the city and its history. Walking through the city centre, you can see the incredible mix of Inca and colonial architecture, watch the merging of indigenous and Spanish influences, and feel the history flowing through every cobblestone street. Cusco is located in the Peruvian Andes at 3,399 metres above sea level.

First, go to the wonderful Koricancha, located next to the Church of Santo Domingo. According to chroniclers, the Koricancha was the most sacred and important temple of the Inca Empire during the period immediately after the Spanish conquest. Its walls were covered in gold, and life-size statues of plants and animals, all pure gold and silver, decorated its rooms and corridors. Unfortunately, this wealth was stripped away by the Spanish conquistadors.

Afterwards, visit the Cathedral of Cusco in the Plaza de Armas (Main Square). Built between 1560 and 1654 on the foundations of an existing Inca temple, this spectacular cathedral houses many works of art from the Cusco school of painters, and its high altar and pulpit are covered in gold and silver reliefs. The next stop is the imposing Inca fortress of Sacsayhuaman (3,700 metres above sea level), which stands on a hill above Cusco. Here, you will see some of the best examples of Inca stonework and construction, including huge rocks carefully cut and fitted perfectly to form the walls. Then, visit the Qenqo Archaeological Complex (3580 metres above sea level), considered an Inca labyrinth with an altar with ritual motifs. Then head to Tambomachay (3,765 metres above sea level). The exact purpose of this site is unknown, but it may have functioned, at least in part, as an Inca spa. After a morning of exploring, you'll have the remainder of the day at your own leisure.

Please note: Cusco is located in the Peruvian Andes at 3,399 metres above sea level, high altitude environments are classified as above 2,500 metres above sea level. Please consult a medical professional if you have any concerns or to find out what preventative measures are available. Please refer to the 'Other Important Information' section for further details.

Itinerary 1

Day 6 Inca Trail: Ayapata Camp - Chaquicocha Camp

Trekking Distance: 12 kilometres
Trekking Time: Approximately 6-7 hours
Highest Altitude: 4,200 metres above sea level

Start your morning early and fresh with a hearty meal prepared by our tour cooks to get your day started right. This point in the classic Inca Trail is generally regarded as the most challenging day, as you have a steep ascent ahead of you. You'll be following the Inca Trail as the route rises up into the Apus, an area sacred to the Inca where the mountain spirits dwell. After a few hours of trekking, you'll reach the highest pass on the trail, the Abra de Warrmihuañusca or the Dead Woman's Pass, at an elevation of 4,200 metres above sea level. To make it to this point in the trail is a truly remarkable feat, and you'll be absolutely proud of a successful once-in-a-lifetime achievement that only a few are able to claim. Once you've made it to the pass, you'll be able to take in the spectacular mountain scenery before descending down to your lunch stop located at Pacaymayu at 3,550 metres above sea level. Along the way enjoy the majestic diversity of flora and fauna unique to Peru at these particular altitudes. After lunch, continue along the trail for about 2 hours on another steep ascent. Your destination is the Runkurakay Pass, 3,700 metres above sea level and after passing this stunning archaeological site we will head to your campsite Chaquicocha. You should arrive around 17:00 and will have plenty of time to set up camp before dinner. Then it's time for bed, where you'll spend another night under the twinkling stars and reminisce about the days adventure.

Overnight: Tent accommodation, Chaquicocha Camp

Day 7 Inca Trail: Chaquicocha Camp - Wiñay Wayna Camp

Trekking Distance: 16 kilometres
Trekking Time: Approximately 8 hours
Highest Altitude: 3,680 metres above sea level

After another hearty breakfast, set off on a relatively gentle uphill trek to your first stop of the day, the archaeological site of Phuyupatamarca, "The City Above the Clouds" located about 3,680 metres above sea level. These enchanting Inca ruins feature slopes and five small stone baths that contain fresh running water during the wet season. Moving onwards, walk up and down a series of Inca steps - 1,000 in total! You'll pass through the cloud forest to the impressive agricultural site of Intipata. Intipata translates to English from the Quechua words 'Inti' and 'Pata', meaning Sun and Place/Terrace, "Place of the Sun" or "Sun Terrace". Due to its location at the top of a mountain, it served as a control and surveillance post, as well as a checkpoint, where various produce, such as potatoes, corn and quinoa were grown on these terraces. You'll continue your walk towards a third campsite, Wiñay Wayna at 2,680 metres above sea level. After 4-5 hours of trekking, arrive at your campsite around lunchtime to set up camp, have lunch and rest before heading back on the trail to explore Wiñay Wayna, which translates to "Forever Young". This archaeological site has a series of 10 baths and numerous Inca buildings displaying high levels of Inca masonry. Wiñay Wayna was discovered almost 30 years after the entire world knew about Machu Picchu and almost 40 years after Machu Picchu was first discovered. Little is known about what Wiñay Wayna was originally built for, however there are theories that it was built as a spiritual destination or resting place before reaching Machu Picchu, where elders and royalty

Day 8 Inca Trail: Wiñay Wayna Camp - Machu Picchu - Cusco

Trekking Distance: 6 kilometres

Trekking Time: Approximately 2 hours

To get the best out of today, you'll wake up at 04:30 to get ready for the main event - Machu Picchu. After breakfast, set out along the last section of the trail for about 1.5 hours until you reach Intipunku, "the Sun Gate", located 2,745 metres above sea level and once used by the Incas as a control gate for anyone who wanted to enter or leave the fortress.

You'll get here just in time to see the sun to rise over the ruins, and watch as the sun spills its golden light across the landscape, slowly revealing Machu Picchu in all its glory.

Pass through the gates to discover the Machu Picchu archaeological site. Here you'll enjoy a two-hour guided tour showcasing the most famous areas of this spectacular and extensive archaeological complex. These include the House of the Guardian, Intihuatana, Temple of the Sun, Sacred Plaza and other key locations. Admire the spectacular views across the agricultural terraces of Machu Picchu and across to the surrounding mountains and plunging gorges.

Once we've finished the tour of Machu Picchu, take the bus back down to Aguas Calientes where you can relax and have lunch (not included) before boarding the train back to Poroy and Cusco. Upon arrival at the station, a tour representative will be waiting to return you to your Cusco hotel.

Optional Tour: Huayna Picchu

Looking for more adventure? Opt for an additional hike up Huayna Picchu. Please note: this additional trek requires a high/active level of fitness.

For those with enough energy left after witnessing the glory of Machu Picchu, you can choose to add on an adventure to climb the mountain of Huayna Picchu. For many, climbing Huayna Picchu is one of the highlights when visiting Machu Picchu. Huayna Picchu is the mountain behind Machu Picchu and the climb itself is interesting as you will witness how the Inca's cut out steps from the rocks as you wind around the side of the mountain. Take the chance to marvel at the majestic sights of Machu Picchu from different angles! See online Important Information for pricing.

Day 9 Cusco Free Day

After breakfast, enjoy a free day to explore Cusco at your own leisure. The capital city of the Inca Empire is now the undisputed archaeological capital of the Americas, as well as the continent's oldest continuously inhabited city.

Optional Tour: Rainbow Mountain Trek

Set off before sunrise on a breathtaking full-day adventure to Rainbow Mountain (Vinicunca), one of Peru's most extraordinary natural wonders. Your day begins with a 05:00 hotel pick up from Cusco, followed by a 2.5-hour drive southeast through the stunning Andean highlands to the village of Pitumarca. Continue to the Quesiuño trailhead, perched at an impressive 4,326 metres above sea level.

The hike covers approximately 3.6 kilometres on a round-trip (1.8 kilometres each way) along a gentle path, making it one of the more accessible routes to Rainbow Mountain. As you walk, take in sweeping vistas of snow-capped peaks, traditional Andean villages, and herds of alpacas and llamas grazing across the high plains. After around 1 hour and 20 minutes of walking, arrive at the summit of Rainbow Mountain, standing at 5,036 metres. You'll have time to admire the incredible mineral-rich stripes that create the mountain's vibrant colours and enjoy panoramic views of the surrounding peaks.

Your return trek takes approximately one hour, followed by a well-earned lunch in the area. Afterwards, sit back and relax as you make the 2.5-hour drive back to Cusco, arriving at your hotel around 18:00, concluding an unforgettable day in the Andes.

Please note: The Rainbow Mountain trek via Pitumarca requires a moderate to high level of fitness. The trail is relatively gentle compared to other routes, but the high altitude remains the main challenge. Consulting with your GP prior to travel to assess your suitability for this excursion is recommended.

Optional Tour: Sacred Valley Tour

Duration: Full Day

Fitness Level Required: Active/Demanding (please refer to the Important Information section for a detailed description).

You will be collected from the hotel around 05:00 to begin the trek. The drive itself takes about three hours, passing through wonderful Andean scenery along the South Valley. You'll stop for breakfast along the way, and then continue on to the trailhead at the village of Quesiuño, at about 4,326 metres (14,189 feet) above sea level.

From here, set off on the trek, first following a pretty stream, seeing herds of alpacas and llamas as they graze on the hillsides. You'll also have constant views of the sacred Ausangate Mountain, and pass occasional villages where the old traditions of the Andes are still very much alive.

Stop for a packed lunch along the trail, enjoying the scenery as you eat and take a break. Heading on, pass by the remote potato fields of this rugged region, and perhaps see some local wildlife. You may even see a chinchilla, a charming Andean rodent that has the densest fur of any mammal that lives on land. We'll also

This point in the classic Inca Trail is generally regarded as the most challenging day, as you have a steep ascent ahead of you. You'll be following the Inca Trail as the route rises up into the Apus, an area sacred to the Inca where the mountain spirits dwell.

After a few hours of trekking, you'll reach the highest pass on the trail, the Abra de Warrmihuañusca or the Dead Woman's Pass, at an elevation of 4,200 metres above sea level. To make it to this point in the trail is a truly remarkable feat, and you'll be absolutely proud of a successful once-in-a-lifetime achievement that only a few are able to claim.

Once you've made it to the pass, you'll be able to take in the spectacular mountain scenery before descending down to your lunch stop located at Pacaymayu at 3,550 metres above sea level. Along the way enjoy the majestic diversity of flora and fauna unique to Peru at these particular altitudes.

After lunch, continue along the trail for about 2 hours on another steep ascent. Your destination is the Runkurakay Pass, 3,700 metres above sea level and after passing this stunning archaeological site we will head to your campsite Chaquicocha. You should arrive around 17:00 and will have plenty of time to set up camp before dinner. Then it's time for bed, where you'll spend another night under the twinkling stars and reminisce about the days adventure.

Overnight: Tent accommodation, Chaquicocha Camp
Meals included: Breakfast; Lunch; Dinner

Day 7 Inca Trail: Chaquicocha Camp - Wiñay Wayna Camp

Trekking Distance: 16 kilometres

Trekking Time: Approximately 8 hours

Highest Altitude: 3,680 metres above sea level

After another hearty breakfast, set off on a relatively gentle uphill trek to your first stop of the day, the archaeological site of Phuyupatamarca, "The City Above the Clouds" located about 3,680 metres above sea level. These enchanting Inca ruins feature slopes and five small stone baths that contain fresh running water during the wet season.

Moving onwards, walk up and down a series of Inca steps - 1,000 in total! You'll pass through the cloud forest to the impressive agricultural site of Intipata. Intipata translates to English from the Quechua words 'Inti' and 'Pata', meaning Sun and Place/Terrace, "Place of the Sun" or "Sun Terrace". Due to its location at the top of a mountain, it served as a control and surveillance post, as well as a checkpoint, where various produce, such as potatoes, corn and quinoa were grown on these terraces.

You'll continue your walk towards a third campsite, Wiñay Wayna at 2,680 metres above sea level. After 4-5 hours of trekking, arrive at your campsite around lunchtime to set up camp, have lunch and rest before heading back on the trail to explore Wiñay Wayna, which translates to "Forever Young". This archaeological site has a series of 10 baths and numerous Inca buildings displaying high levels of Inca masonry. Wiñay Wayna was discovered almost 30 years after the entire world knew about Machu Picchu and almost 40 years after Machu Picchu was first discovered. Little is known about what Wiñay Wayna was originally built for, however there are theories that it was built as a spiritual destination or resting place before reaching Machu Picchu, where elders and royalty would cleanse themselves in the baths. Others believe that the site functioned as a kind of administrative centre to keep track of the amount of produce stored on-site.

After visiting Wiñay Wayna, you'll head back to camp for dinner and rest up for the next day's adventure and pinnacle of your trip - Machu Picchu!

Overnight: Tent accommodation, Wiñay Wayna Camp
Meals included: Breakfast; Lunch; Dinner

Day 8 Inca Trail: Wiñay Wayna Camp - Machu Picchu - Cusco

Trekking Distance: 6 kilometres

Trekking Time: Approximately 2 hours

Highest Altitude: 2,500 metres above sea level

To get the best out of today, you'll wake up at 04:30 to get ready for the main event - Machu Picchu. After breakfast, set out along the last section of the trail for about 1.5 hours until you reach

Intipunku, "the Sun Gate", located 2,745 metres above sea level and once used by the Incas as a control gate for anyone who wanted to enter or leave the fortress.

You'll get here just in time to see the sun to rise over the ruins, and watch as the sun spills its golden light across the landscape, slowly revealing Machu Picchu in all its glory.

Pass through the gates to discover the Machu Picchu archaeological site. Here you'll enjoy a two-hour guided tour showcasing the most famous areas of this spectacular and extensive archaeological complex. These include the House of the Guardian, Intihuatana, Temple of the Sun, Sacred Plaza and other key locations. Admire the spectacular views across the agricultural terraces of Machu Picchu and across to the surrounding mountains and plunging gorges.

Once we've finished the tour of Machu Picchu, take the bus back down to Aguas Calientes where you can relax and have lunch (not included) before boarding the train back to Poroy and Cusco. Upon arrival at the station, a tour representative will be waiting to return you to your Cusco hotel.

Optional Tour: Huayna Picchu

Looking for more adventure? Opt for an additional hike up Huayna Picchu. Please note: this additional trek requires a high/active level of fitness.

For those with enough energy left after witnessing the glory of Machu Picchu, you can choose to add on an adventure to climb the mountain of Huayna Picchu. For many, climbing Huayna Picchu is one of the highlights when visiting Machu Picchu.

Itinerary 2

Huayna Picchu is the mountain behind Machu Picchu and the climb itself is interesting as you will witness how the Inca's cut out steps from the rocks as you wind around the side of the mountain. Take the chance to marvel at the majestic sights of Machu Picchu from different angles! See online Important Information for pricing.

Overnight: Costa del Sol Ramada Cusco or similar, Cusco
Meals included: Breakfast

Day 9 Cusco Free Day

After breakfast, enjoy a free day to explore Cusco at your own leisure. The capital city of the Inca Empire is now the undisputed archaeological capital of the Americas, as well as the continent's oldest continuously inhabited city.

Optional Tour: Rainbow Mountain

Set off before sunrise on a breathtaking full-day adventure to Rainbow Mountain (Vinicunca), one of Peru's most extraordinary natural wonders. Your day begins with a 05:00 hotel pick up from Cusco, followed by a 2.5-hour drive southeast through the stunning Andean highlands to the village of Pitumarca. Continue to the Quesiuno trailhead, perched at an impressive 4,326 metres above sea level.

The hike covers approximately 3.6 kilometres on a round-trip (1.8 kilometres each way) along a gentle path, making it one of the more accessible routes to Rainbow Mountain. As you walk, take in sweeping vistas of snow-capped peaks, traditional Andean villages, and herds of alpacas and llamas grazing across the high plains. After around 1 hour and 20 minutes of walking, arrive at the summit of Rainbow Mountain, standing at 5,036 metres. You'll have time to admire the incredible mineral-rich stripes that create the mountain's vibrant colours and enjoy panoramic views of the surrounding peaks.

Your return trek takes approximately one hour, followed by a well-earned lunch in the area. Afterwards, sit back and relax as you make the 2.5-hour drive back to Cusco, arriving at your hotel around 18:00, concluding an unforgettable day in the Andes.

Please note: The Rainbow Mountain trek via Pitumarca requires a moderate to high level of fitness. The trail is relatively gentle compared to other routes, but the high altitude remains the main challenge. Consulting with your GP prior to travel to assess your suitability for this excursion is recommended.

Optional Tour: Sacred Valley Tour

Duration: Full Day

The Sacred Valley of the Incas is a stunning valley situated north of Cusco. It's also known as the Urubamba Valley, as it stretches from Pisac to Ollantaytambo, irrigated by the Urubamba River.

Civilisations have inhabited this valley since at least 800 BC when the Chanapata civilisation arrived here to make use of the rich soil, so today you'll embark on a full-day tour to discover the fascinating archaeological sites of civilisations past. You'll first head to magnificent Moray. Although the journey is about 1.5 hours, you'll drive through spectacular Andean scenery, passing yellow wheat fields, picturesque traditional villages, and snow-capped mountains. Arriving at Moray, your guide will show you around the three amphitheatre-like terraced structures. These terraces, which are carved in a circular series to create a bowl shape, are believed to have been used as a testing ground for various crops to find the most optimal growing conditions. It's an incredible sight and gives real insight into the genius of the Inca Empire.

After exploring Moray, you'll head on to Maras to see the amazing salt evaporation ponds, which were used by the Incas and pre-Inca civilisations. Here you'll find more than 3,000 salt pools carved into the mountainside, which catch highly salty water as it emerges from a spring in the mountain. The ponds catch this water, where it then slowly evaporates, leaving just the salt behind. This is collected via a communal process and is most famously used to make sal de Maras, the famous pink table salt. It's an incredible sight looking down across the salt ponds, which appear to be covered in snow or ice.

After lunch (not included), you'll travel another 30 minutes to the wonderful Inca town and archaeological site of Ollantaytambo. This was the royal estate of the Inca emperor Pachacuti, who conquered the region and built the town and a ceremonial centre. Here, you'll have the opportunity to explore these magnificent ruins, visit the awe-inspiring Temple of the Sun, and see massive blocks of rock that were perfectly carved and polished by master Inca stonemasons. Ollantaytambo is a fine example of Inca agricultural construction and hydro-engineering, featuring a complex series of stone water fountains, channels, and farming terraces that were organised by elevation to create different microclimates for crop experimentation. Walking to the town square, you'll have great views of the ruins above you as well as Inca granaries and storehouses built on the sides of the surrounding mountains. Here, you can also observe the daily life of Ollantaytambo locals, who still wear traditional attire. After your tour, you will be returned to your hotel, where the remainder of your afternoon will be at your leisure. See online Important Information for pricing.

After the market visit, you'll head to a local restaurant, where you'll be provided with an apron and everything needed to cook. Under the chef's guidance, you'll prepare a traditional Peruvian

Day 11 Cusco - Puno

After breakfast at approximately 06:30, you'll be taken from your hotel to the bus station to embark on a fully-guided tour of four amazing sites - Andahuaylillas, Raqchi, La Raya & Pukara.

Andahuaylillas, also known as the Sistine Chapel of South America, this church is a beautiful example of Andean popular religious art. Visit this magnificent building and marvel at the collection of canvases of the Cusco School, murals attributed by Luis de Riaño, the "Virgin of the Assumption", a majestic organ, silver jewellery and a baroque altar.

Raqchi is the hidden jewel between the volcanoes and once a pre-Hispanic settlement of the Kanchi people. The town is one of the most important constructions of the Inca Empire, characterised by its peculiar and extraordinary architectural technique, totally different from other constructions of the time.

La Raya, is the half-way point between Cusco and Puno and also the highest point 4334 metres above sea level. The landscapes here are stunning and typical Andean animals like the llama, alpaca and vicuña are familiar sights. It is also the geographic border between two cultures Quechua and Aymara.

Finally arrive at Pukara, where you'll visit the most important and oldest ceremonial centre of the altiplano. Also known as the "Red Fortress" due to the red granite used in the construction of these ruins.

TOUR GUIDE VS. TOUR LEADER

Tour Guide

Often locals with intimate knowledge of an area, its culture, and history. Their role entails providing commentary, routing the tour, and seeing that people have a good time. They are a licensed, qualified expert who supplies specific information on the history, art, architecture and culture of the city/village/attraction where they are guiding the tour. The guide meets the group at the required place and leaves it at the end of the tour; they do not travel with the group.

Tour Leader

An experienced person tasked with ensuring the smooth operation of tours, as well as providing practical support to passengers throughout the whole trip. Their role primarily includes assisting with accommodation, transportation between locations, and communication with tour guides at each stop. A tour leader may provide general guidance around a city or village and offer information on the place visited on the bus. However, they are not required to have specific art, architecture, or historical knowledge. ## CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

Lima

Lima is usually described as mild and warm throughout the year without much noteworthy rain, making Lima one of the driest capitals in the world. The average temperatures range from 18°C to 28°C.

Cusco

Cusco has a subtropical highland climate due to its elevation (3500m above sea level). It is generally dry and temperate, with two defined seasons. The dry season lasts from May to August, with abundant sunshine and occasional night time freezes; July is the coldest month with an average of 9.7°C. The wet season lasts from December to March, with night frost less common; November averages 13.3°C. Temperatures usually range from 0.2°C to 20.9°C.

Puno

As Puno is located at such a high elevation (3830m above sea level), it experiences more extreme weather conditions than would be expected for its tropical latitude. The average annual temperature is about 8.4°C, and the weather never gets overly warm. During the winter months from June to August, night-time temperatures usually drop well below 0°C. At this high altitude, the rays of the sun are very strong. Most of the annual precipitation falls during the southern hemisphere summer, with the winter months being very dry.

Altitude sickness can occur at high elevations when the body receives less oxygen. It can affect anyone, regardless of age or fitness, with symptoms such as headache, nausea, dizziness, fatigue and shortness of breath.

Tips to help prevent altitude sickness:

- Stay well hydrated and eat light, high-carbohydrate meals.
- Avoid overexertion during the first 24–48 hours at high altitude.
- Limit alcohol and avoid smoking.
- Consult your healthcare professional about preventive medications or your suitability for travel to high-altitude areas.

Local tour providers are trained in first aid, including high-altitude care, and have oxygen available for guests if needed. Medications are also readily available in Cusco.

Fever requirements for the countries you'll be visiting.

Gratuities/Tipping

Land

Gratuities (tips) are not included for the services of the tour leader (when available) and driver throughout the tour. The recommended tip is $10-20 AUD per person per day. This covers the guide/leader and the driver and will be collected on tour.

Inca Trail Tipping

Generally, on the Inca Trail, groups give collective tips that are shared between the cook and all porters and are usually given on the last night of the trek. If the group pools together money and at the end of the hike and each porter receives 60 soles (approx. $25 AUD) and the cook receives 120 soles (approx. $50AUD), they will end with a great tip! Often, the tip for your guide is done personally and is generally 50 soles (approx. $20 AUD) per traveller. Tipping is of course 100% voluntary and it should only be done if you feel that your guide, porters and cooks have done an amazing job. For reference, a group of 10 travellers will have 16 porters (including the cook) and 2 guides.

Tipping for all services provided on tour is always a matter of personal discretion, however please be aware that tipping is considered by many locals to be a part of their normal remuneration and they may approach you for payment and there is no need to be intimidated by the request.
