The Itinerary

This morning you'll head towards the North Korean border where you'll take the gondola for a perfect bird eye view of the Demilitarized Zone. Then, visit Dokgae Bridge which symbolises the pains of war and separation. The skywalk experience will be divided into three themes: past, present, and future.

After receiving a brief and listening to the precautions, you can watch a 3D film about the war, and then we can vividly see the North Korean villages, people working, and their daily lives.

The tower gives a view of North Korea at a glance and is a special place to experience the division of a nation and the life of North Korean people. You can see the North Korean territory using binoculars from the 304 square feet, 500-person capacity observatory. There's also an exhibition hall with displays on the conflict.

Silla, alternatively Shilla, was a Korean kingdom that existed between 57 BCE – 935 CE and was located on the southern and central parts of the Korean Peninsula. Among such historical treasures, you will find the Seokguram grotto, Bulguksa temple and Yangdong Folk Village.

You'll take part in a city tour from Bulguksa temple, also known as "The Buddhist Country Temple", which was designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1995. Afterwards, you'll visit the Chomsongdae Observatory and Daereungwon, also known as Tumuli Park, which has more than 20 royal tombs from the Silla Period. The Itinerary

Day 8 Busan City Tour

This morning you'll head out on a full-day tour of Busan, the hub of Asia. First up you'll visit the Yongdusan Dragon Head Park, called Yongdusan because the shape of the mountain resembles a dragon's head emerging from the sea. From there you'll head to the Jagalchi Fish Market which is the largest fish market in Korea and a popular "must-see" site for tourists in Busan.

Afterwards, visit Haedong Yonggungsa Temple which is situated on the coast of the north-eastern portion of Busan. This superb attraction offers visitors a rare temple along the shoreline as most temples in Korea are located in the mountains. Continue onwards to the Gamcheon Culture Village which is formed by houses built in staircase fashion on the foothills of a coastal mountain. You'll find many alleys that cut through this community are vibrantly decorated with murals and sculptures created by the residents. Optional Activity: Full-Day Busan Sightseeing tour

This morning you'll visit Huinnyeoul Culture Village, a charming coastal village located on the sloping cliff of Yeongdo in Busan. In December 2011, the old houses of the area were remodelled and the area was reborn as a unique culture and art village where you can walk through and visit the numerous cafes and galleries while enjoying the sweeping views of Busan and the ocean.

Afterwards, visit Songdo Beach where you can board the famous cable car to ride over the bay and enjoy views through the transparent floor of the cable car before stopping by the Sky Harbor Observatory Platform which offers beautiful views of the Songdo Sea and cable cars. Return to Sondo Beach via the same cable car and take a short walk along the Songdo Cloud Walk which features sections of clear glass floor that creates the feeling of walking on top of the ocean. First opened in 2015, the 365-meter-long skywalk offers an amazing panoramic view of the surrounding area that has made the Skywalk a popular destination.

You'll then visit the Nurimaru APEC House, built to host the 2005 APEC Summit meeting at the tip of Dongbaek Island (◆◆◆), which stands near Haeundae Beach. This eye-catching glass building has been one of Busan's symbolic places ever since. Day 11 Jeju Island Tour

Today you'll head out on a full-day tour of this amazing island. Your first stop will be Seongeup Village, located at the foot of Halla Mountain, this is a small town that holds a vast amount of culture from 1410 to 1914. Cultural properties in the folk village have been handed down from generation to generation and include treasures such as residential houses, Confucian shrines, schools, ancient government offices, stone statues, large millstones (pulled by horses or ox), fortress ruins and stone monuments. Even the trees are an important part of the area's heritage as several zelkova and nettle trees that are hundreds of years old stand at the centre of the village, preserving the dignified atmosphere of a bygone era.

Afterwards, you'll enjoy a demonstration by some of Jeju Island's famous female divers. As of 2011, there were about 5,000 female divers on Jeju Island and most of them are over 50 with some even being 70 or 80 years old. This diving activity has its roots in ancient times when men went to the sea and women raised their children alone. While these women have long been the main contributors to the island's economy, their role is a great transition as nowadays, they're mostly performers and are a symbol of Jeju island.

Please note: In case of rain or strong winds, the performance will be cancelled. In this case, it will be replaced by the Haenyeo Museum.

Next up, you'll visit the impressive Seongsan Ilchulbong Tuff Cone, which rises 180 metres above sea level due to a magma flow under the sea over 5,000 years ago. It was initially a separate island, but a build-up of sand and soil has connected it to the main one. A large crater, formed by the hot lava mixing with cold ocean water, is located at the top of Seongsan

Other Important Information

TOUR GUIDE VS. TOUR LEADER

Tour Guide

Often locals with intimate knowledge of an area, its culture, and history. Their role entails providing commentary, routing the tour, and seeing that people have a good time. They are a licensed, qualified expert who supplies specific information on the history, art, architecture and culture of the city/village/attraction where they are guiding the tour. The guide meets the group at the required place and leaves it at the end of the tour; they do not travel with the group.

Tour Leader

An experienced person tasked with ensuring the smooth operation of tours, as well as providing practical support to passengers throughout the whole trip. Their role primarily includes assisting with accommodation, transportation between locations, and communication with tour guides at each stop. A tour leader may provide general guidance around a city or village and offer information on the place visited on the bus. However, they are not required to have specific art, architecture, or historical knowledge. They are not allowed to provide a guided tour or commentary of a city/village/attraction once there and, if caught doing so, can be fined.

Please note: Tour leaders/guides are not a standard inclusion in all travel offers. Tour leaders/guides will only be made available when required to enhance the experience of the destination featured.

CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

South Korea

Unlike many other Asian destinations, South Korean weather is straightforward and easy to understand. There are only minimal regional variations throughout the country, and the year is divided neatly into four distinct seasons. There is a delightful spring (April to June), a muggy and wet summer (July to August), a refreshing autumn (September to November) and a freezing cold, snowy but dry winter (December to March). The main regional temperature differences in South Korea are accounted for by the country's altitudinous interior and its warmer, but windier, coastline. Japan and China protect South Korea from most of the area's typhoons, but one or two still manage to get through each year during the summer months.

Spring (April to June)

Typically lasting from April to June, spring is often seen as the best time of year to visit South Korea, with average daily temperatures a pleasant 15 - 18°C. During this time the flowers are in bloom and green spaces are bathed in the delightful hues of the pink cherry blossom, especially in the city of Gyeongju. The weather is the least likely to be inclement and, as a result, many festivals and events can be found taking place. Join the locals in heading for the hills and making the most of the many national parks, such as Songnisan, Seoraksan and Jirisan. You can expect sunny days but you should also count on destinations being more crowded as it is the most popular time to visit South Korea.

Summer (July to August)

The brief summer lasts from July to August and is the hottest time of the year in South Korea. Temperatures may range between 23°C and 30°C but this is also the wettest time of the year, with the monsoon rains bringing half of the country's annual rainfall during these months. It can be incredibly humid, so you may find yourself seeking sanctuary in the many air-conditioned spaces of Seoul, or relishing the sea breezes of coastal cities like Busan, where the famous Haeundae Beach is packed with people and parasols, and the southern holiday island of Jeju.

Autumn (September to November)

Once the muggy heat and rains of summer have passed, South Korea once again bursts into colour and festivals come to the fore. Stunning shades of orange and red pepper the autumnal landscapes - particularly throughout the country's National Parks such as Songnisan, Jirisan and Seoraksan. Long into October, the weather is usually mild enough to sport a t-shirt during the day in the seaside resorts of Jeju - and even higher in the hills - but after this you will need to think about packing some extra layers. The mild temperatures (average temperature 19-21°C), low rainfall and natural beauty make autumn a strong rival to spring as the best time of year to visit South Korea.

Winter (December to March)

South Korea is indeed a land of extremes and nowhere is this more apparent than in the sudden drop in temperature that winter brings. From summer highs of 30°C the temperatures in winter can plummet to as low as -20°C on occasion in the northern regions of the Gangwon-do Province, although it can be significantly milder along the southern coast and on the holiday island of Jeju in the far south. Falling between December and March, the long winter is freezing cold but relatively dry, and certainly charming. Crisp, white snow can be expected creating romantic views you can enjoy without the madding crowds of spring. Winter sports enthusiasts can enjoy skiing and snowboarding at the ski resorts in the Gyeonggi-do Province and in Gangwon-do which sees a higher than average annual snowfall.
