South Korea

In South Korea, from May to September, the weather transitions from spring to summer and then to early autumn. In May, temperatures range from around 15°C to 25°C, gradually warming up as summer approaches. June, July, and August are the peak summer months, with temperatures soaring to highs of 25°C to 30°C or even higher, especially in urban areas. During these months, humidity levels are also high, making the weather feel hotter. September marks the beginning of autumn, with temperatures gradually cooling down to around 20°C to 25°C as the season progresses.
