But the most unusual and breathtaking sight in this picturesque place is the waterfalls. One of them, the majestic Barskaun waterfall, is a state natural monument. Take an easy hike to the most accessible waterfall called Bowl of Manas (Kyrgyz national hero), or if you are not up for a hike, you can walk around and visit a local yurt for a cup of tea (not included).

The Gijduvon School of Traditional Ceramics became the leading ceramics supplier to Bukhara in the first decade of the 20th century. Later, visit Ulugbek Observatory - a historical monument and one of the outstanding observatories of the Middle Ages, Shohi-Zinda Necropolis. This is one of Samarkand's outstanding ancient architectural landmarks, located on the southeastern slope of Afrosiab Mountain. TOUR GUIDE VS. TOUR LEADER

Tour Guide

Often locals with intimate knowledge of an area, its culture, and history. Their role entails providing commentary, routing the tour, and seeing that people have a good time. They are a licensed, qualified expert who supplies specific information on the history, art, architecture and culture of the city/village/attraction where they are guiding the tour. The guide meets the group at the required place and leaves it at the end of the tour; they do not travel with the group.

Tour Leader

An experienced person tasked with ensuring the smooth operation of tours, as well as providing practical support to passengers throughout the whole trip. Their role primarily includes assisting with accommodation, transportation between locations, and communication with tour guides at each stop. A tour leader may provide general guidance around a city or village and offer information on the place visited on the bus. However, they are not required to have specific art, architecture, or historical knowledge. They are not allowed to provide a guided tour or commentary of a city/village/attraction once there and, if caught doing so, can be fined.

Please note: Tour leaders/guides are not a standard inclusion in all travel offers. Tour leaders/guides will only be made available when required to enhance the experience of the destination featured.

CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

Almaty, Kazakhstan

Almaty is situated in a mountainous area that influences the climate of this city. Almaty has a warm continental climate with more rainfall than in the rest of the country. Especially in spring and early summer, there is much more rain. Summers are pleasant and make it a perfect time to visit. The winters are mild and pleasant. Most precipitation will be snow. You will most likely experience good weather with pleasant average temperatures during May, June, July, August and September. October will be slightly cooler.

Bishkek, Kyrgyzstan

The capital, Bishkek, is located in the north, in the valley of the river Chuy, at an altitude ranging between 650 and 950m. Here, the climate is continental, with cold winters and hot summers, in which the days can be scorching, often around 35-36°C, but with dry air and lively breezes in the afternoon. Precipitation is moderate, the annual total around 450mm, with a minimum summer (when only rare showers occur to interrupt the sunny days), and a maximum in spring, between March and May.

Dushanbe, Tajikistan

In Dushanbe, the climate is continental as well; winters are pretty cold, though not freezing, with an average in January of 3°C, while summers are hot and sunny: highs in July and August are around 35°C, but with peaks of 40°C. In winter, the temperature often drops below freezing at night, but it remains quite mild during the day; however, even here, cold waves may occur, with lows around -10°C, though less intense than in the rest of the country, because the mountains in the north partly protect the city. It receives about 600mm of rain or snow per year, most of which between November and May, with a maximum in March and April, of about 110mm per month, distributed in about 10 days per month, and a summer minimum (even here, from July to September it virtually never rains).

Important Information

Tashkent, Uzbekistan

Tashkent features a Mediterranean climate with strong continental climate influences. As a result, Tashkent experiences cold and often snowy winters not typically associated with most Mediterranean climates and long, hot and dry summers. The city experiences two peaks of precipitation in the early winter and spring. The slightly unusual precipitation pattern is partially due to its 500m altitude. Summers are long in Tashkent, usually lasting from May to September. Tashkent can be extremely hot during July and August. The city also sees very little precipitation during the summer, particularly from June through September.
