Climate & Average Temperatures

Bali

Bali is a tropical island located in Indonesia, and its climate is characterised by warm temperatures throughout the year. The island experiences two distinct seasons, the wet season and the dry season.

The wet season in Bali typically occurs from November to March, with December and January being the wettest months. During this period, the island experiences frequent and heavy rainfall, high humidity, and overcast skies. The temperatures during the wet season remain warm, with average daytime highs ranging from 28°C to 31°C (82°F to 88°F). The nights are also relatively warm, with temperatures dropping to around 23°C to 26°C (73°F to 79°F).

The dry season in Bali extends from April to October and is the most popular time for tourists to visit. This period offers plenty of sunshine, lower humidity, and clear skies. Rainfall is minimal during the dry season, making it an ideal time for outdoor activities and beach-related experiences. Average daytime temperatures during the dry season range from 31°C to 33°C (88°F to 91°F), and nighttime temperatures are typically cooler, with lows ranging from 24°C to 26°C (75°F to 79°F). It's important to note that while these are the general climate patterns for Bali, there can be some variation from year to year, and microclimates may exist in different parts of the island. Additionally, Bali's climate is influenced by its location near the equator, so temperatures and weather conditions tend to be fairly consistent. Bali's climate makes it a popular destination for tourists seeking warm and sunny weather, especially during the dry season when outdoor activities, water sports, and beach relaxation are at their best. However, the wet season can also have its own unique charm and is a time when Bali's lush landscapes are particularly vibrant.

Important Information

Gratuities / Tipping

Gratuities (tips) are not included in the package price for other services offered. Tipping for services provided is always a matter of personal discretion, however, please be aware that tipping is considered by many locals to be a part of their normal remuneration and they may approach you for payment and there is no need to be intimidated by the request.

Visas

A tourist visa will be issued upon arrival if staying less than 30 days and travelling on an Australian passport. A visa fee of IDR 500,000 applies (approximately AUD $50, subject to change) and it is best to have this amount in cash upon arrival to ensure smooth entry. To avoid long queues at the airport, you can also apply for a visa on arrival online through this website.

Important:

- Please start arranging your visa three weeks before departure to account for any delays due to consulate operating hours.
- Visa rules may have changed since Covid-19.

Some countries and airlines may require you to obtain an additional visa before arrival. Please check with the nearest embassy, consulate or immigration department of the destination you're entering.

Please note:

- Passengers who are not Australian citizens must also check with the respective consulate or visa agency to determine what their visa requirements are and what personal identification is required.
- It is also important to note that some areas of employment, such as journalism, government authorities and charity organisations, may have additional restrictions in applying for visas. This may, in turn, affect the type of application required.

Travel Insurance

Embarking on your next trip is exciting, and while you hope the unexpected does not happen, it is best to be prepared. We strongly recommend you take out travel insurance when making your booking. Whether it's a potential medical emergency, a flight cancellation, a delayed suitcase, or an unforeseen event, it's important to ensure you're adequately protected.
