Day 7 Trondheim

Arrives: 08:00 - Departs: 18:00

Founded in 997 AD, Trondheim is one of Norway's oldest cities, situated midway between southern and northern Norway. Dominated by the massive Nidaros Cathedral, Trondheim is often referred to as the Royal City. Traditionally, the kings of Norway have been crowned in the cathedral, which is considered a National Shrine.

Straddling both sides of the River Nid, on Trondheimsfjord, much of the town was rebuilt after a fire in 1681 destroyed the majority of its original wooden structures. Some of the oldest buildings, dating to the 1700's, have survived along the river, while the wide streets of the city centre boast picturesque and brightly painted houses.

Day 8 Brønnøysund

Arrives: 08:00 - Departs: 17:00

A coastal city, Brønnøysund's origin dates back to its 13th century Viking heritage. In the intervening centuries, it has been settled by immigrants from southern Norway and Sweden, and its local Swedish-like dialect still carries echoes of this past. Brønnøysund sits on a narrow peninsula from the mainland, and is surrounded by waterways dotted with a maze of small scenic islands.

In this fairytale setting, picturesque, colourful houses are set amidst thick lush greenery, turquoise blue water and shallow bays. Towering above the town like a giant troll's hat is the massive granitic monolith of Torghatten Mountain. Here can be found one of the great natural curiosities of the area, a 160 metre hole piercing completely through the centre of the mountain. The Viking sagas surmised that it was the impact of a warrior horseman's arrow that created the wound. However, it was actually formed during the Ice Age by erosion from ice and water.

dramatic in Norway. Svolvær, located on the island of Austvågøya, received town status in 1996, and is the Lofoten's most important city with about 4,500 residents.

Dominating the town is the mountain peak called Svolværgeita, a beacon for climbers. Fishermen flock here when the Norwegian Arctic cod enters the Vestfjord to spawn. You'll be captivated by the picturesque setting and extraordinary light conditions.

Day 10 Tromsø

Arrives: 08:00 - Departs: 17:00

Tromsø is the largest city in northern Norway and the ninth most populous municipality in the country. It surprises visitors with its sophisticated art scene, its contrasting modern and historical architecture, international cuisine, multicultural events and festivals throughout the year.

Situated 200 miles north of the Arctic Circle, Tromsø is within the land of the midnight sun during summer months and the elusive northern lights in winter. However, thanks to the warming effect of the Gulf Stream, the sea doesn't freeze here in winter, and there is no permafrost in the vicinity. Tromsø is noticeably milder than other towns at the same latitudes in other parts of the world.

Tromsø is also 'The City of Explorers' and has seen a number of expeditions set off from its shores to probe the polar realm. Both Roald Amundsen and Fridtjof Nansen frequently recruited men in the city. Nowadays home to the Norwegian Polar Institute, Tromsø continues a tradition of being one of the key centers in explorations of the Arctic.

Day 11 Honningsvåg - Scenic Cruising North Cape

Arrives: 08:00 - Departs: 18:00

The perpendicular cliffs of Nordkapp, or the North Cape, mark the very top of the European continent. This ultimate destination has long drawn adventurous royalty including Oscar II, King of Norway and Sweden, who visited in 1873, and followed by the King of Siam in 1907. The North Cape is located on the island of Magerøya, a name derived from a word that means "meager." While the landscape may have a lunar appearance, it is not really so isolated. Just 21 miles away, the main town, Honningsvåg, has some 4,000 inhabitants. In summer that number swells when the Sami people and their reindeer settle on the outskirts of town.

The looming cliffs of Norway's North Cape rise directly from the sea 1007 feet/307 metres to a plateau as flat as a table. This impressive headland has been selected to represent the northernmost point of Europe, even though it is technically located on an island, Magerøya, connected to the mainland by a bridge. At 71° 10' 20" N latitude, it is just 1,306 miles/2012 kilometres from the North Pole. At this point, the Norwegian Sea, which is part of the Atlantic Ocean, meets the Barents Sea, part of the Arctic Ocean. Further north, the mountainous archipelagoes of Franz Josef Land and Svalbard are the lands before the Polar Ice Pack. The Midnight Sun does not dip below

Day 14 Loen (Olden) - Scenic Cruising Nordfjord

Arrives: 08:00 - Departs: 17:00

Tender required.

The small village of Olden is located deep in the Nordfjord, cradled in a lush valley among snowcapped peaks. It has welcomed visitors arriving by ship since the end of the 19th century, as attested by the venerable Hotel Alexandria dating from 1884. There are some very old farms around Olden, including some believed to predate the Christian era here. Less than four miles away, the village of Loen is nestled at the base of Mt. Hoven, where a newly opened Sky lift cable car can carry visitors from sea level to the mountaintop at 1,011 meters in about five minutes. Enjoy panoramic views of the surrounding peaks and glaciers, and the fjords, farms and villages below. A strung cable Via Ferrata invites ambitious climbers to clip on and ascend the mountain on foot. The village is the popular gateway to the sprawling Jostedalsglacier National Park, with its system of glaciers feeding waterfalls including the Ramnefjellsfossen, whose three free-falling cascades tumble nearly 2,700 feet, making it the world's third-highest waterfall. Mt. Skala is another popular attraction, boasting twin peaks of over 7,000 feet in altitude.

Cruise Norway's sixth-longest fjord, which arises from the mighty Jostedalsglacier, Europe's largest, high in the mountains and empties into the sea at Husevågøy island south of the Stadlandet Peninsula. The fjord is 66 miles/106 kilometres long, with six main branches. It is surrounded by snow-capped peaks,

Day 15 Bergen, Norway

Arrives: 08:00 - Departs: 17:00

Stunningly beautiful Bergen is the ideal combination of nature, culture and exciting urban life, and is also the gateway to Norway's fjords. Since King Olav Kyrre founded the city in 1070, Bergen has attracted people from all over the world. The city's history has been marked by numerous great fires, and what remains of the Bryggen, its old inner harbor, is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and the colorful setting for one of Norway's most popular postcard views. Bergen is a cultural melting pot, with concerts, international festivals and museums of all kinds.

The renowned Hanseatic Museum and Gamlehaugen Mansion, the residence of the Norwegian Royal Family, are two of the many highlights. Den Nationale Scene Theater is one of the oldest in Norway, while the beautiful Christ Church Cathedral, built by King Olav Kyrre in 1066, has been the site of numerous royal coronations and burials. The Bergenhus fortress, built in 1240, is situated at the harbor entrance and is one of the oldest and best-preserved stone fortifications in Norway.

Day 18 Dover (London) - Disembark - Australia (or New Zealand)

Arrives: 07:00

Times subject to tidal conditions.

Approaching the coast, ships are greeted by the ethereal White Cliffs of Dover. This iconic strip of milky-white land serves as England's welcoming beacon, its stark beauty becoming more apparent as you draw closer. The coastline unfurls like a grand tapestry, its white chalk cliffs streaked with black flint, rising majestically 350 feet straight from the sea's embrace. The echoes of ancient times resonate from every corner of Dover.

Archaeological treasures hint at the presence of human life during the Stone Age, painting a vivid picture of the region's rich history. However, it was the Romans who first recorded Dover's significance, drawn by its strategic location just 21 miles from the French mainland. Dover is home to remarkable Roman remnants, including the tallest Roman-built lighthouse still standing in Britain, as well as the only preserved Roman wall mural outside Italy.

Upon disembarkation a coach transfer will be provided to the airport for your return flight.

CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

London

In May, London begins to enjoy warmer and more pleasant spring weather. Average daytime temperatures typically range from 11°C to 18°C, with some warmer days reaching up to 20°C, especially toward the end of the month. Mornings and evenings can still be a bit cool, so light layers are recommended. Rain is always a possibility in London, with occasional showers scattered throughout the month, but there are also longer periods of sunshine and blooming parks, making it a lovely time to explore the city.

Norway

In May, Norway begins to emerge from the cold of winter into a much milder and greener spring. Average temperatures vary depending on the region: in southern cities like Oslo and Bergen, daytime temperatures typically range from 10°C to 17°C, while in the north, such as Tromsø, it's cooler, averaging 4°C to 10°C. Snow may still be present in the mountains and northern areas, but coastal and southern regions begin to bloom with spring greenery. Daylight increases significantly, especially in the north, where late May brings nearly continuous daylight. While showers are possible, May is generally one of the drier and more pleasant months to visit, offering a great balance of fresh spring scenery and fewer crowds.

Amsterdam

In May, Amsterdam enjoys mild and pleasant spring weather, with average daytime temperatures ranging from 10°C to 18°C. The city starts to feel warmer and more vibrant, with tulips in full bloom and longer daylight hours—sunset often stretches past 9 PM by late May. While there can still be occasional rain showers, the overall climate is comfortable for exploring canals, parks, and outdoor cafes. It's a popular time to visit, as the weather is inviting, but the summer crowds have yet to peak. A light jacket and layers are recommended, especially for cooler mornings and evenings.
