TOUR GUIDE VS. TOUR LEADER

Tour Guide

Often locals with intimate knowledge of an area, its culture, and history. Their role entails providing commentary, routing the tour, and seeing that people have a good time. They are a licensed, qualified expert who supplies specific information on the history, art, architecture and culture of the city/village/attraction where they are guiding the tour. The guide meets the group at the required place and leaves it at the end of the tour; they do not travel with the group.

Tour Leader

An experienced person tasked with ensuring the smooth operation of tours, as well as providing practical support to passengers throughout the whole trip. Their role primarily includes assisting with accommodation, transportation between locations, and communication with tour guides at each stop. A tour leader may provide general guidance around a city or village and offer information on the place visited on the bus. However, they are not required to have specific art, architecture, or historical knowledge. They are not allowed to provide a guided tour or commentary of a city/village/attraction once there and, if caught doing so, can be fined.

Please note: Tour leaders/guides are not a standard inclusion in all travel offers. Tour leaders/guides will only be made available when required to enhance the experience of the destination featured.

CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

Travel in the Mediterranean region

Important Information

between April and October is characterized by a gradual shift from mild spring weather to a hot summer and a pleasant, warm autumn. Here is a brief weather description for Italy and Spain and popular Mediterranean destinations.

April - May (Spring)

Italy: The weather is mild and comfortable, making it an excellent time for sightseeing and outdoor activities. Temperatures in northern Italy are around 11–20°C, while central and southern Italy are warmer, with temperatures between 15–22°C. Occasional showers are possible.

Spain: Similar to Italy, spring is pleasant with fewer crowds. Temperatures vary by region, but coastal areas and the south see temperatures ranging from 15–22°C. It's a great time to explore cities like Madrid and Barcelona before the summer heat.

June - August (Summer)

Italy: This is the hottest and driest period. In northern Italy, expect average highs of 26–30°C with frequent thunderstorms. Central and southern Italy, and the islands of Sicily and Sardinia, can be very hot, with average highs of 30–32°C and frequent spikes above 35°C.

Spain: The entire country experiences hot and dry weather. Coastal regions and the south, including Andalusia, can be extremely hot, with temperatures often exceeding 35°C. The central plains, like Madrid, also see very high temperatures. This is the peak tourist season, so be prepared for crowds and high prices.

September - October (Autumn)

Italy: The intense summer heat subsides, and the weather becomes very pleasant. September is still warm with average highs around 25°C in the south. By October, temperatures cool down further, with northern Italy seeing highs of 12–18°C and central and southern Italy enjoying highs of 18–25°C. This is the rainiest season, especially in the north.

Spain: Autumn is another great travel period. The weather is still warm in September, with average highs in many coastal areas around 25–28°C. October sees a significant drop in temperature, but it's still mild and comfortable for sightseeing, with highs ranging from 18–23°C. Rainfall increases during this period, particularly on the northern Atlantic coast and in the Pyrenees.

Visas

Europe

A tourist visa is not required for Europe for stays up to 90 days if travelling on an Australian or New Zealand passport.

EU Entry/Exit System (EES)

From October 12, 2025, a new European Entry System (EES) replaces the current manual passport-stamping process for non-EU travellers. Upon arrival in the Schengen area, Australian and New Zealand passport holders will have their fingerprints recorded and a photograph taken. Their entry and exit dates will be electronically registered. No previous action is required, but please be aware of longer wait times at border entry. From 10 April 2026, the EES will be fully operational at all external border crossing points of all the European countries (Schengen area) using the system.

European Travel Information & Authorisation System (ETIAS)

As an extension of the EES implementation introduced from 2025, ETIAS travel authorisation is a mandatory entry requirement for visa-exempt nationals travelling to any of these 30 European countries, including Australian and New Zealand citizens, that will be introduced in 2026. We advise you to monitor smartraveller.com.au closer to your departure to ensure you are up to date on the requirements at the time of entry.

Important:

- Please start arranging your visa three weeks before departure to account for any delays due to consulate operating hours.
- Visa rules are subject to change. Please check with the nearest embassy, consulate or immigration department of the destination/s you are visiting once you receive your travel documentation to ensure you have the most up to date information.

- It is your responsibility to be travel-ready and ensure that you are aware and comply with any destination or travel requirements, including the validity of all required travel documents.
- Passengers who are not Australian citizens must also check with the respective consulate or visa agency to determine what their visa requirements are and what personal identification is required.
- It is also important to note that some areas of employment, such as journalism, government authorities and charity organisations, may have additional restrictions in applying for visas. This may, in turn, affect the type of application required.
