Other Important Information

TOUR GUIDE VS. TOUR LEADER

Tour Guide

Often locals with intimate knowledge of an area, its culture, and history. Their role entails providing commentary, routing the tour, and seeing that people have a good time. They are a licensed, qualified expert who supplies specific information on the history, art, architecture and culture of the city/village/attraction where they are guiding the tour. The guide meets the group at the required place and leaves it at the end of the tour; they do not travel with the group.

Tour Leader

An experienced person tasked with ensuring the smooth operation of tours, as well as providing practical support to passengers throughout the whole trip. Their role primarily includes assisting with accommodation, transportation between locations, and communication with tour guides at each stop. A tour leader may provide general guidance around a city or village and offer information on the place visited on the bus. However, they are not required to have specific art, architecture, or historical knowledge. They are not allowed to provide a guided tour or commentary of a city/village/attraction once there and, if caught doing so, can be fined.

Please note: Tour leaders/guides are not a standard inclusion in all travel offers. Tour leaders/guides will only be made available when required to enhance the experience of the destination featured.

CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

Hong Kong

In October, Hong Kong's weather is typically very pleasant as it transitions out of the hot and humid summer. You can expect average daily temperatures around 26°C, with highs of about 28°C and lows around 23°C. It's a significantly drier month, with a notable drop in humidity and an average of only 5 to 8 rainy days. This provides for comfortable conditions with plenty of clear skies and sunshine, making it an excellent time to visit.

Vietnam

In November, the weather across Vietnam varies significantly by region. In the north, including Halong Bay, the climate is generally pleasant and cool, with average temperatures around 24.5°C and the end of the wet season, leading to drier conditions and less humidity. In contrast, Central Vietnam, including Da Nang, is at the peak of its rainy season, experiencing heavy rainfall and potential storms. Despite this, temperatures remain warm, ranging from a low of 25°C to a high of 28°C, with showers often being brief and occurring in the afternoon or evening. Meanwhile, in the south, including Ho Chi Minh City, the rainy season begins to decline, with temperatures remaining hot and humid, typically ranging from 24°C to 31°C, though with a promise of less frequent downpours as the month progresses towards its dry season.

Thailand

In November, Thailand's weather patterns diverge significantly between its different regions. In Bangkok, the country begins its dry season, with a rapid decrease in rainfall and humidity. The weather becomes much more comfortable for sightseeing and outdoor activities, with average high temperatures around 31°C. In contrast, on the Gulf of Thailand coast, Ko Samui is at the peak of its northeast monsoon season, making it one of the wettest months of the year with frequent and heavy downpours. Despite the rain, the island remains hot and humid, with average temperatures around 27°C.

Singapore

In November, Singapore enters its wet season, marked by a significant increase in rainfall as the northeast monsoon begins. This makes it one of the wettest months of the year, with a high chance of daily showers and thunderstorms. Despite the increased precipitation, temperatures remain consistently hot and humid, with average highs around 31°C and lows of 24°C. Visitors should be prepared for sudden downpours and humid conditions but can still enjoy plenty of indoor attractions, such as shopping malls and museums, which offer a welcome escape from the rain and heat.

Indonesia

In November, the weather across the locations in Indonesia you will be visiting is hot, humid, and marks the beginning of the wet season. Both Semarang and Surabaya on the island of Java experience a significant increase in rainfall, with frequent, intense afternoon downpours. Temperatures remain consistently high, with averages around 27-28°C and highs reaching 32°C. Similarly, in Bali, including Celukan Bawang and Benoa, November is the start of the rainy season, bringing more overcast days and tropical showers. Despite the rain, the climate remains very warm and humid, with average daily temperatures around 31°C and lows of 23°C, ensuring the sea is still warm enough for swimming.
