Other Important Information

TOUR GUIDE VS. TOUR LEADER

Tour Guide:

Often locals with intimate knowledge of an area, its culture, and history. Their role entails providing commentary, routing the tour, and seeing that people have a good time. They are a licensed, qualified expert who supplies specific information on the history, art, architecture and culture of the city/village/attraction where they are guiding the tour. The guide meets the group at the required place and leaves it at the end of the tour; they do not travel with the group.

Tour Leader:

An experienced person tasked with ensuring the smooth operation of tours, as well as providing practical support to passengers throughout the whole trip. Their role primarily includes assisting with accommodation, transportation between locations, and communication with tour guides at each stop. A tour leader may provide general guidance around a city or village and offer information on the place visited on the bus. However, they are not required to have specific art, architecture, or historical knowledge. They are not allowed to provide a guided tour or commentary of a city/village/attraction once there and, if caught doing so, can be fined.

Important Information

Please note: Tour leaders/guides are not a standard inclusion in all travel offers. Tour leaders/guides will only be made available when required to enhance the experience of the destination featured.

CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

Fiji

During these specific months, Fiji transitions between its wet and dry seasons, offering consistently warm, tropical temperatures. In November and December, which mark the beginning of the humid wet season, you can expect daily highs around 29°C to 31°C and overnight lows near 23°C, often accompanied by brief but heavy tropical downpours. As the season winds down in April, conditions remain quite warm with average highs of 29°C to 30°C, though the rainfall begins to decrease. By May, Fiji enters its dry season, bringing more stable weather with pleasant daily maximums of approximately 28°C and cooler, comfortable nights around 21°C. Throughout all four months, the sea remains invitingly warm, typically hovering between 27°C and 28°C, making it ideal for swimming and snorkeling.

Vanuatu

Vanuatu's climate during these months is very similar to Fiji's, characterised by high humidity and tropical warmth as it moves through the seasonal cycle. In November and December, the archipelago enters its hot and humid wet season, with average daytime highs reaching 29°C to 31°C and nighttime lows around 22°C; this period also marks the start of the cyclone season, so frequent afternoon downpours are common. By April, the transition begins as the heavy rains start to taper off, though temperatures remain warm with highs averaging 29°C. May is often considered one of the best times to visit, as the "cool" dry season arrives, bringing clearer skies and more comfortable temperatures that peak at 28°C during the day and dip to a refreshing 20°C at night. Throughout all four months, the sea remains a consistent 27°C to 28°C, ensuring that water activities are comfortable year-round.
