Day 5 Reloncavi Sound (Scenic Cruising) - Puerto Montt, Chile

Reloncavi Sound (Scenic Cruising)

Puerto Montt, in Chile's Northern Patagonia Los Lagos region, is set on the shores of a large bay identified as Reloncavi Sound.

To the east looms Mount Yate, a snowcapped, glaciated stratovolcano and beyond, the Andes.

The sound is punctuated by islands, the three largest being Tenglo, Maillen and Huar. Two much larger islands, Puluqui and Queulin, sprawl across the mouth of the sound, separating it from the Gulf of Ancud. The point where the Reloncavi Estuary empties into the sound is effectively where the Chilean Central Valley meets the Pacific Ocean. Salmon farms dimple the coves of the sound, and pods of orcas are sometimes seen. Near the sound on shore, Chile's Alerce Andino National Park protects a vestigial forest of ancient alerce trees.

Puerto Montt, Chile

Arrives: 10:30 - Departs: 18:00

Puerto Montt sits beneath a skyline of snow-capped volcanoes. Osorno Volcano, towering 2,652 metres near the town, erupted in 1835 and was described by naturalist Charles Darwin. The town sits at the gateway to a myriad of outdoor adventures including an exhilarating white-water rafting trip, tranquil fly fishing and scenic hiking in Alerce Andino National Park (not included). Petrohue Rapids and Lake Llanquihue are set within a rural landscape of sheep farms. A walk around town allows for an encounter into the South American way of life. A vibrant fish market, selling everything from seaweed to salmon and spiny crabs sits astride a street lined with craft stalls packed to the brim with brightly coloured woollen ponchos. South American fur seals lounge along the seawall promenade as colourful fishing boats lay at anchor offshore. Puerto Montt is an eclectic mix of new and old, refined and rustic. Reloncaví Sound is a panoramic vista of high volcanoes. To the south, is scenic Moraleda Channel and the entrance to the picturesque Chilean Fjords.

The Itinerary

Day 6 Moraleda Channel (Scenic Cruising) - Darwin Channel (Scenic Cruising) Moraleda Channel (Scenic Cruising)

The Moraleda Channel is a protected waterway running along the coast of Chile from the Gulf of Corcovado in the north to the Laguna San Rafael in the south. It separates the myriad mountainous islands of the Chonos Archipelago from the Chilean mainland. Like the Inside Passage on the Pacific coast of North America, the Moraleda Channel is a geological feature. Its course follows the geologic Liguine-Ofqui Fault on the eastern side of the islands, which are actually the peaks of the submerged Chilean Coastal Range.

Darwin Channel (Scenic Cruising)

The Darwin Channel cuts through the elongated, mountainous islands of the Chonos Archipelago in Southern Chile, connecting the Pacific Ocean on the west with the Moraleda Channel running along the Chilean mainland. These forested islands, mostly uninhabited, are actually the peaks of the submerged Chilean Coastal Range. Darwin Channel is a westward continuation of the Aysen Fjord, connecting to the Pacific at Isquiliac Island. Being free of navigational hazards, it forms a preferred, scenic pathway for ships navigating in the area.

Overnight: Seabourn's Seabourn Pursuit
Meals included: Breakfast; Lunch; Dinner

Day 7 Baker Channel (Scenic Cruising) - Caleta Tortel, Chile - Transit English Narrows Baker Channel (Scenic Cruising)

The Baker Channel is a large, multi-armed fjord that cuts from Tarn Bay in the Gulf of Penas some 120 kilometres into the Chilean mainland. It lies roughly halfway between the Northern and Southern Patagonian Ice Fields and its southern arm culminates at the face of the Jorge Montt Glacier, which flows from the Southern ice field and frequently calves icebergs into the channel. The channel forms the northern boundary of Chile's vast Bernardo O'Higgins National Park.

Caleta Tortel, Chile

Arrives: 08:00 - Departs: 17:00

A picturesque coastal village in southern Chile, renowned for its unique network of wooden walkways instead of streets, connecting colourful houses built along the rugged fjords. It sits in a nestled remote area of the Patagonian Fjords and offers stunning views of the glaciers, rivers and mountains.

English Narrows (Transit)

On the long Messier Channel between the huge Wellington Island and the Chilean mainland, the English Narrows is a natural, 13-kilometre obstacle consisting of a scattering of islands constricting the passage to a width of as little as 182 metres. It presents no hazard to a skilled navigator under most conditions, but at spring tides, the current runs as much as six knots and wind conditions may also make navigation risky. The narrows transit is a good time to be on deck, to keep an eye out for birds such as diving petrels or steamer ducks and possibly the small, rare dolphins that are sometimes seen in remote areas like this.

The Itinerary

Overnight: Seabourn's Seabourn Pursuit
Meals included: Breakfast; Lunch; Dinner

Day 8 Eyre Fjord (Scenic Cruising) - Pio XI Glacier (Bruggen Glacier) - Wide Channel (Scenic Cruising)
Eyre Fjord (Scenic Cruising)

Eyre Fjord penetrates the mainland of southern Chile from the Icy Channel about 32 kilometres to the broad face of the massive Pio XI glacier. It is the longest glacier in the Southern Hemisphere outside Antarctica, flowing some 64 kilometres from the Southern Patagonian Ice Field to the fjord. It is also one of the very few advancing glaciers on earth. The glacier face is located near a large eastern arm of Eyre Fjord called Exmouth Fjord.

Pio XI Glacier

Arrives: 08:00 - Departs: 13:00

At the head of scenic Eyre Fjord lies the longest glacier in the southern hemisphere outside of Antarctica. The monumental ice-mass fills the fjord to a width of 4.5 kilometres and covers an area of 1,265 square kilometres. Colossal ice cliffs rise 75 metres high and are cut by deep-blue crevasses and free-standing ice pillars known as seracs. Some 66 kilometres upstream of where it meets the ocean, the glacier merges with the ice of the Southern Patagonian Ice Field. Unlike other glaciers worldwide, it advanced significantly from 1945 to 1976, adding nearly 60 square kilometres to its toe. Bernardo O'Higgins National Park is one of the last refuges for the small Chilean deer known as a huemul and species such as the Andean condor, both featured in Chile's national coat of arms.

Wide Channel (Scenic Cruising)

The Wide Channel is an inside passage along the coast of southern Chile. It separates the eastern lobe of the huge Wellington Island from the Chilean mainland, starting between Saumarez Island and Icy Channel in the north and opening into the Concepcion Channel in the south, adjacent to the Bernardo O'Higgins National Park on the mainland Wilcock Peninsula. Surrounded by precipitous mountains, its shoreline on the mainland side is interrupted by the Europa and Penguin fjords. Join your expedition team members on deck or in an observation lounge for expert insights into the area.

Overnight: Seabourn's Seabourn Pursuit
Meals included: Breakfast; Lunch; Dinner

Day 9 Peel Fjord (Scenic Cruising) - Brujo Glacier - Smyth Channel (Scenic Cruising)
Peel Fjord (Scenic Cruising)

Cutting eastward from the Sarmiento Channel in Southern Chile, this fjord divides into three: Amalia, Asia and Calvo Fjords. Amalia leads to Amalia Glacier, the El Brujo Glacier is in Asia Fjord, and Calvo boasts several small glaciers of its own. The mainland to the east is all part of the huge Torres del Paine National Park. The area is a fascinating geological panorama, and your expedition team members will be available to interpret the sights, as well as identify wildlife spotted while cruising the scenic waterways.

Brujo Glacier

Arrives: 07:00 - Departs: 11:00

Entering Peel Fjord from the Sarmiento Channel in southern Chile, your ship veers into the branch called Asia Fjord. As you cruise deeper into the fjord, the water's surface is dappled with floating 'bergie bits' of ice, and occasional larger growlers. Meanwhile, the steep slopes on either side are tinselled with lacy waterfalls flowing from the snow-frosted peaks above. Ahead, two ochre slopes cradle a glowing blue-white face of cracked and fissured ice two kilometres across and hundreds of feet high, spilling with geologic slowness from the South Patagonian Ice Field far up the valley. Occasionally, a huge shard of ice falls silently into the sea, followed seconds later by the delayed sound of its crack and thunder. You are in the midst of Chile's Bernardo O'Higgins National Park, the nation's largest protected region.

The Itinerary

Smyth Channel (Scenic Cruising)

The Smyth Channel is another of the spectacular waterways threading the maze of islands off the coast of extreme southern Chile. At its northern end, it briefly parallels the Sarmiento Channel, then veers southward opening into the Strait of Magellan. Dotted with a myriad of small islands and corrugated with countless narrow fjords and bays, it makes a mesmerising panorama as the ship plies between the islands on one side and the immense Peninsula Munoz-Gamero on the other. Members of your expedition team will be on deck and in lounges to offer insights into the wild, unspoiled terrain you are passing.

Overnight: Seabourn's Seabourn Pursuit

Meals included: Breakfast; Lunch; Dinner

Day 10 Strait of Magellan - Punta Arenas, Chile (Overnight)

The Strait of Magellan is a 570-kilometre channel separating the mainland of South America from the large Isla Grande de Tierra del Fuego, and connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. It was first navigated by the explorer Ferdinand Magellan during his circumnavigation voyage in 1520. He named it the Strait of All Saints, because his transit started on November 1, All Saints Day. It was also Magellan who named the southern island Tierra del Fuego, after seeing the smokes from fires in the camps of the native people. The strait is between 3 and 32 kilometres wide, and earned the nickname "Dragon's Tail" among sailors, for its tortuous path. Along with the Beagle Channel, it was one of two protected channels for sailing between the oceans prior to the construction of the Panama Canal. The third alternative was the notoriously turbulent open ocean Drake Passage beyond Cape Horn.

There is one sizeable port city in the strait, Chile's Punta Arenas, which has an interesting harbour breakwater consisting of two ship hulks, the Cavenga and an old iron four-mast sailing ship, the County of Peebles. There are several Chilean national parks and monuments in the strait, including Los Pingüinos National Monument and a sanctuary for protecting humpback whales. Southern right whales are also known to frequent the strait's waters. There are 41 light signals in the strait, including the San Isidro Lighthouse (which has been restored and is now a museum) and the Evangelistas Lighthouse at the western entrance. The strait was very difficult for sailing ships, due to unpredictable winds and tidal currents. Depending on tide conditions, even modern ships often opt for one of the alternative routes, because the tidal speeds are greatly exaggerated by the Venturi effect through narrows.

Meals included: Breakfast; Lunch; Dinner

Day 11 Punta Arenas, Chile
Departs: 18:00

Punta Arenas is the most important port and commercial centre for the immense Patagonian agricultural area of Chile. The economy revolves around the sheep raised on the expansive pampas. Located on the Strait of Magellan, separating the mainland from the island of Tierra del Fuego, it's one of the southernmost cities in the world. Its colonial history may be explored in the splendid Plaza de Armas, in the magnificent tombs of the Pioneer Cemetery and the opulent Braun-Menendez Mansion. The heritage of Ferdinand Magellan's exploration can be recaptured at the Nao Victoria ship museum. Fort Bulnes national monument memorialises the earliest colonial period, while the offshore Los Pingüinos Natural Monument preserves the thriving seabird and sea lion colonies around Magdalena Island. This is also the port from which a full-day flight excursion takes visitors to the majestic peaks and picturesque lakes and wildlife of the Torres del Paine National Park.

Once deemed too harsh for European settlement, Ushuaia's rugged beauty was the realm of its native inhabitants - the Yaghan People. Today, it holds the distinctive title of being the southernmost city on Earth, often referred to as "the end of the world." Situated along the banks of the Beagle Channel, Ushuaia unveils itself like an artist's masterpiece. A mosaic of vibrant houses adds a splash of colour against the dramatic backdrop of

Other Important Information

TOUR GUIDE VS. TOUR LEADER

Tour Guide:

Often locals with intimate knowledge of an area, its culture, and history. Their role entails providing commentary, routing the tour, and seeing that people have a good time. They are a licensed, qualified expert who supplies specific information on the history, art, architecture and culture of the city/village/attraction where they are guiding the tour. The guide meets the group at the required place and leaves it at the end of the tour; they do not travel with the group.

Tour Leader:

An experienced person tasked with ensuring the smooth operation of tours, as well as providing practical support to passengers throughout the whole trip. Their role primarily includes assisting with accommodation, transportation between locations, and communication with tour guides at each stop. A tour leader may provide general guidance around a city or village and offer information on the place visited on the bus. However, they are not required to have specific art, architecture, or historical knowledge. They are not allowed to provide a guided tour or commentary of a city/village/attraction once there and, if caught doing so, can be fined.

Please note: Tour leaders/guides are not a standard inclusion in all travel offers. Tour leaders/guides will only be made available when required to enhance the experience of the destination featured.

CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

Chile

As you cruise through the breathtaking

Important Information

fjords and channels of Southern Chile in November, you will experience a dramatic shift from the mild spring of the north to the crisp, wild landscapes of the south. In Puerto Montt and the Reloncavi Sound, the gateway to the fjords, you'll enjoy refreshing daytime highs of 16°C to 18°C, though dampness is common with the region's lush rainforest backdrop. As you navigate the Moraleda and Darwin Channels and transit the English Narrows, temperatures begin to dip, typically ranging between 10°C and 14°C. Further south, near the Baker Channel, Eyre Fjord, and the majestic Pio XI Glacier, the air becomes noticeably colder due to the proximity of the Southern Ice Field, with averages hovering around 9°C to 11°C. By the time you reach Punta Arenas and the Strait of Magellan, expect true Patagonian conditions: brisk daytime highs of 12°C to 14°C, frequent strong winds, and overnight lows of 4°C, requiring warm layers and windproof gear to fully enjoy the scenic cruising.

Buenos Aires, Argentina

In Buenos Aires, November is one of the most beautiful times to visit as the city transitions into late spring, famously marked by the blooming purple Jacaranda trees. You can expect pleasantly warm and comfortable weather, with average daytime highs of 25°C to 26°C and refreshingly cool evenings around 16°C. While the city is generally sunny with about 8 hours of daily sunshine, it is historically one of the rainier months, so brief, humid downpours can occur. Overall, the climate is ideal for exploring the city's outdoor cafes and historic barrios like San Telmo or Recoleta without the sweltering heat of the mid-summer months.

Weather

We always suggest referring to an online source for the most up-to-date weather information for your destination/s.

FLIGHTS

Seat Selection & Frequent Flyer Points:

We do not arrange seat selection. It is essential to highlight that some airlines do not allow pre-selected seats. While we do not add frequent flyer member details to bookings, you can do this directly with the airline once you have your flight information.

Meal options and availability differ between airlines and routes therefore not all dietary requests can be accommodated. If your flight includes meals we will select the most suitable option available based on the dietary requirements you have specified. All meal requests are subject to airline approval and are not guaranteed, therefore we recommend preparing for your flight by bringing appropriate food for yourself, as required.

Customers must provide valid passport details either at the time of purchase or no later than 90 days before the departure date. Failure to do so may result in the cancellation of the booking. Customers will be responsible for any costs and fees incurred in this instance.

Adventure (and spontaneity) create some of the best travel memories. Bear in mind, your home schedules and timings might not be adhered to on tour - it's all part of the fun!

A relaxed level of fitness will be required. Expect a comfortable pace of touring with a focus on leisure time and gentle activity. This may include city tours, the ability to walk up and down small flights of stairs and gentle slopes. You will be responsible for your own luggage and have the ability to board all modes of transport without assistance. Please note: Some areas may be inaccessible to wheelchairs or mobility scooters, with personal walking sticks and other aids required should they be needed. Although some assistance may be available, every traveller should be self-reliant during all aspects of their travel.

country to request a Yellow Fever certificate upon arrival.

You must check with your doctor well before leaving home about the Yellow Fever requirements for the countries you'll be visiting.

Do not make any purchases you are not comfortable with or feel pressured into. If you are uncertain or need assistance with the language barrier, please seek assistance from your Tour Guide/Leader. Please refer to our Terms and Conditions regarding shopping for further information.

Visas

Argentina

Australian passport holders are visa-exempt for a stay of up to 90 days.

Please note: Effective immediately, all international travellers to Argentina must hold valid travel insurance with medical coverage. This insurance may be requested and verified upon arrival in the country. Argentina's public healthcare system will no longer provide free medical services to foreign nationals. It is therefore essential that you obtain appropriate insurance before your departure.

Chile

As of 17th September 2025 tourist visas for Chile are not required if travelling on an Australian Passport. You can stay in Chile for up to 90 days without a visa. If you're unsure whether you need a visa, contact the nearest embassy or consulate of Chile.

Important:

- Please start arranging your visa three weeks before departure to account for any delays due to consulate operating hours.
- Visa rules are subject to change. Please check with the nearest embassy, consulate or immigration department of the destination/s you are visiting once you receive your travel documentation to ensure you have the most up to date information.
- It is your responsibility to be travel-ready and ensure that you are aware and comply with any destination or travel requirements, including the validity of all required travel documents.
- Passengers who are not Australian citizens must also check with the respective consulate or visa agency to determine what their visa requirements are and what personal identification is required.
- It is also important to note that some areas of employment, such as journalism, government authorities and charity organisations, may have additional restrictions in applying for visas. This may, in turn, affect the type of application required.

Travel Insurance

Embarking on your next trip is exciting, and while you hope the unexpected does not happen, it is best to be prepared. We strongly recommend you take out travel insurance when making your booking. Whether it's a potential medical emergency, a flight cancellation, a delayed suitcase, or an unforeseen event, it's important to ensure you're adequately protected.
