CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

Hong Kong

In December and January, Hong Kong experiences its winter, which is generally mild, dry, and very pleasant. This is the coolest and least humid time of the year, with average daily temperatures around 18°C, highs reaching about 20°C, and lows dropping to 15°C. Rainfall is minimal, resulting in many clear, sunny days perfect for hiking and exploring the city without the intense heat of other seasons. However, it's wise to pack layers, including a jacket or sweater, as evenings and occasional cold fronts can be quite cool.

Vietnam

In December and January, the weather across Vietnam remains highly varied by region, marking the peak of the tourist season in both the north and south. In the north, including Hanoi and Ha Long Bay, it is the middle of a pleasant and dry winter. Expect clear skies, but average temperatures can drop to around 17°C, with cooler evenings and mornings, so packing warm layers is essential. In contrast, Central Vietnam, including Da Nang and Hoi An, is transitioning out of its rainy season. While December can still see significant rainfall, conditions improve through January with less rain and more sunshine. Meanwhile, the south, including Phu My and Ho Chi Minh City, is in its prime dry season, offering hot, sunny days, low humidity, and low rainfall. Average temperatures range from 23°C to 32°C, creating perfect conditions for travel.

Thailand

In December and January, much of Thailand enjoys its peak dry season, offering some of the best weather of the year, though conditions differ on the Gulf Coast. In Bangkok and Laem Chabang, the north, and on the Andaman coast (including Phuket and Krabi), the weather is fantastic. Expect comfortable temperatures with low humidity and plenty of sunshine, with average highs around 31°C. In contrast, the Gulf of Thailand coast (including Koh Samui) is coming to the end of its monsoon season. December can still see notable rainfall, but conditions improve significantly as January progresses, with less rain and more sunshine.

Singapore

In December and January, Singapore is deep into its wettest period, the peak of the Northeast Monsoon season. December is often the rainiest month of the year, with January following closely behind. Visitors should expect frequent and heavy afternoon thunderstorms, though there are still periods of sunshine. Despite the rain, temperatures remain consistently hot and humidity is at its highest, with average highs around 30°C and lows of about 24°C. While outdoor plans can be disrupted, this is an excellent time to explore Singapore's world-class indoor attractions

Yellow Fever:

A valid international certificate of vaccination against Yellow Fever is required in many countries. You may need to present this on arrival at the airport or border crossing. Some countries will refuse entry if you are unable to present your certificate. It's also common for your home country to request a Yellow Fever certificate upon arrival.

You must check with your doctor well before leaving home about the Yellow Fever requirements for the countries you'll be visiting.

Please note: If entry to a site is affected by changes in operating hours or public holiday closures, your itinerary, where possible, may be adjusted, or a similar Upgrade will be offered in its place (subject to availability).

Do not make any purchases you are not comfortable with or feel pressured into. Please refer to our Terms and Conditions regarding shopping for further information.

Visas

Hong Kong

Australian passport holders are visa exempt for a stay of up to 90 days. The traveller must hold a passport valid at least six months on entry with two blank visa pages.

Vietnam

Australian passport holders are eligible to apply online for a single or multi entry electronic visa (e-visa), valid for up to a maximum of 90 days.

Lodge your application online (for a non-refundable fee) with the Vietnamese National Web Portal of Immigration <https://evisa.xuatnhapcanh.gov.vn/>. You will be given a unique code to track your visa application status. Once your visa is granted, you must print it out and present it at check in. Keep this e-visa print out with you at all times during your travel in Vietnam.

Some private online visa services and travel agents have scammed travellers or been involved in the public disclosure of the personal information of applicants for visas and 'visa issued on arrival' approval letters. To avoid such scams, only use official Government of Vietnam services to arrange your visa. Visa and other entry and exit conditions (such as currency, customs and quarantine regulations) change regularly. Contact the nearest Embassy or Consulate of Vietnam for up-to-date information.

All arriving passengers must register via the official, unified eTravel platform within 72 hours prior to landing or disembarking in the Philippines. A physical or digital copy of the generated QR code must be presented at border control.
