Many natural pictures formed on the precipices seem like paintings hanging on the cliffs. Afterwards, visit Gold Whip Stream, a brook at the foot of the towering mountains. The 400-metre-high cliff by Golden Whip Stream is spectacular. One thing to watch out for is the wild monkeys along the stream. Tour Guide:

Often locals with intimate knowledge of an area, its culture, and history. Their role entails providing commentary, routing the tour, and seeing that people have a good time. They are a licensed, qualified expert who supplies specific information on the history, art, architecture and culture of the city/village/attraction where they are guiding the tour. CLIMATE & AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

Spring (March - May)

Chongqing

Spring is generally mild and pleasant in Chongqing. The weather warms up quickly, with temperatures typically ranging from about 15°C to 25°C. This season still sees occasional thick fog in the mornings, especially in March, a remnant of the winter humidity. Light showers are common, but overall it's a comfortable transition period before the intense summer heat arrives.

Chengdu

Spring in Chengdu is characterized as pleasant and warming. It's often considered a very comfortable time to be in the city. Temperatures follow a similar range to Chongqing, usually between 15°C and 25°C. Chengdu experiences less fog than Chongqing and is generally a little drier, making it a popular time for local travel and outdoor activities.

Summer (June - August)

Chongqing

Summer in Chongqing is extremely hot and humid, earning it the moniker of one of China's "Furnace Cities." Temperatures frequently exceed 35°C and can sometimes climb over 40°C in the afternoon. This is the peak rainy season, featuring frequent, heavy thunderstorms that, while intense, do little to break the stifling humidity. The heat often makes midday outdoor activities challenging.

Important Information

Chengdu

Chengdu's summer is also hot, humid, and rainy, but generally less extreme than in Chongqing. Temperatures typically range from 25°C to 33°C. Like its neighbor, Chengdu receives the bulk of its annual rainfall during this period, with July and August being the wettest months, characterized by high humidity and heavy precipitation.

Autumn (September - November)

Chongqing

Autumn is often considered the best time to visit Chongqing. The weather turns cool and comfortable, providing a welcome relief from the summer heat. Early autumn sees temperatures ranging from 18°C to 28°C, gradually cooling by November. The humidity drops, and the city enjoys clearer skies and less rainfall compared to the summer months.

Chengdu

Autumn in Chengdu is similarly a cool and crisp season. It is another ideal time for tourism due to the comfortable, moderate weather. Temperatures generally range from 14°C to 22°C. While rain is common, it tends to be lighter and less frequent than during the summer, offering many pleasant, mild days.

Winter (December - February)

Chongqing

Winter in Chongqing is mild, damp, and famously foggy. Compared to northern China, it's short, with temperatures typically ranging from 6°C to 12°C. However, the high humidity makes the cold feel much more penetrating. The season is dominated by frequent and heavy fog, giving the city its nickname "Fog City." Snow is extremely rare.

Chengdu

Chengdu's winter is cold, damp, and predominantly overcast. Temperatures are low, ranging from about 5 °C to 10 °C. The persistent cloud cover and high humidity contribute to a perpetual feeling of chill. Fog can also occur, and the city receives very little sunshine during this season. As with Chongqing, significant snowfall is highly uncommon.

- It is your responsibility to be travel-ready and ensure that you are aware and comply with any destination or travel requirements, including the validity of all required travel documents.
- Passengers who are not Australian citizens must also check with the respective consulate or visa agency to determine what their visa requirements are and what personal identification is required.
- It is also important to note that some areas of employment, such as journalism, government authorities and charity organisations, may have additional restrictions in applying for visas. This may, in turn, affect the type of application required.
